

Salmonberg, WA

Redmond was first known as “Salmonberg,” for the abundant fish flowing through local rivers.

The City of Redmond can be seen in “Bustin’ Loose” (1981), “From Dusk Till Dawn” (1996), “The King of Kong: A Fistful of Quarters” (2007), and “Northern Exposure” (1990, TV).

Logging, Chickens, and Steamboats

Before Redmond became the center for software and technology innovations, we were known for logging and farming. The land currently occupied by Microsoft was mostly made up of expansive chicken farms. Steamboats offered the only practical mode of transportation as our rivers wound through a thick forest of trees.

Some Fascinating Facts About Redmond

Musician, actress, writer, director, and comedian Carrie Brownstein, of rock trio Sleater-Kinney, and the comedy TV series Portlandia, grew up in Redmond.

Deep History of Native Culture

Artifacts discovered at the Redmond Town Center archaeological site and Marymoor Prehistoric Indian Site show that Native Americans have lived in the Redmond area for 12,000 years.

New Way to Commute

The City of Redmond is looking forward to the planned expansion of light rail service via the East Link Extension from Seattle to Redmond.

Our Official Poet Laureate

Redmond has had a poet laureate since 2010. The 2022-2023 Poet Laureate, Laura Da’, is an Eastern Shawnee teacher and poet. Her work promotes reflection, conservation, community connection, and the history of the land.

Focus on the Arts

Redmond features many public artworks, from sculptures hidden amongst natural environments to imagery integrated into buildings. In some cases, the art is a stage, where literary readings, theater, dance, and music can be performed.

Redmond Must-Haves

DOG LEASH

Redmond is the ultimate dog-friendly city, and you and your pup will delight in the plethora of places where pets are welcome. You can even remove the leash and let Lassie run free at Marymoor or at a pop-up dog park. Woof, woof!

BIKE TOOL

Redmond is known as the Bicycle Capital of the Northwest. We have over 40 miles of bike trails and a 75-mile bicycle system. Bring your bike, and be sure to pack a multi-tool to keep you rolling. Or, pick up the supplies you need at one of our incredible bicycle shops.

SMART PHONE WITH CAMERA

Redmond is one of the most connected cities in the world, so you'll want to bring your mobile device to navigate trail maps, order food to go, search ExperienceRedmond.com, or take photos of the beautiful scenery.

WATER BOTTLE

As you explore the vast array of outdoor activities, it's important to stay hydrated. Whether you are window shopping Downtown, biking our interconnected trails, or running in one of our community races, you'll always be close to the water.

A GOOD BOOK

As one of the world's most well-read regions, you'll want to find a peaceful park or quiet coffee shop to curl up and get lost in a good book. If you didn't bring a book, you can always browse the endless aisles of one of several locally-owned bookstores.

UMBRELLA

This is the Pacific Northwest, after all, so we're known to get a rainy day or two. A few raindrops won't stop the locals from exploring the great outdoors, but you're welcome to borrow a bright red umbrella at any Redmond hotel to remain rain-free in style.

CUP OF COFFEE

The Seattle region is world renowned for our love of the roasted bean, and Redmond's cup runneth over with a wide variety of coffee shops, cafes, and bakeries for you to find the perfect morning drink (or afternoon pick-me-up).

Two Scenic Strolls Through Redmond Neighborhoods

1 Redmond Central Connector and Sammamish River Trail

4.5 Miles | Approx. 1.5 to 2 Hours

The Redmond Central Connector follows former railroad tracks and is a lovely way to start your day, offering a glimpse of the lush nature surrounding the City.

Start at the Redmond Town Center, with a cup of coffee and a pastry from one of several bakeries or cafes.

Head north on 164th Ave. NE, then west on NE 76th St. to enter the Central Connector Park, taking notice of some of Redmond's myriad art installations.

Continue north along the path, and pause at the trestle bridge crossing the Sammamish River to take in the epic water views.

Inside two miles, exit the trail at NE 95th St. and enjoy a frosty pint of Trickster IPA at Black Raven Brewery.

From the brewery, head east on NE 95th St. and turn left at 153rd Ave NE. At the gate where the street ends, access the Puget Power Trail. Go left to the bridge and cross over to the east side of the Sammamish River.

Join the other outdoor enthusiasts as they bike, skate, and jog along the popular Sammamish River Trail, heading south toward Downtown.

Detour onto the City Hall campus to sit in the oversized red chairs and take some silly pictures.

Join the Central Connector again and complete your walk back to the Redmond Town Center.

2 Get Lost at Microsoft

2 to 5 Miles | 30 Minutes to 2 Hours

If you are visiting Redmond on official Microsoft business, consider this fun way to explore the massive campus.

Redmond is the home of Microsoft's global headquarters, hosting approximately 47,000 employees. The campus spans 500 acres, and is surrounded by a network of trails, expansive outdoor spaces, and secluded spots.

Start your outing at one of the Overlake area hotels, and walk northbound on 152nd Ave. NE.

At the roundabout, look for one of many posted signs indicating distances of 2- (yellow), 3- (red) or 5-mile (blue) trail loops.

Feeling adventurous? Embark on a treasure hunt to see how many of these fascinating features you can find:

- Visit the Microsoft Visitors Center to learn about the company's past, present, and future (Building 92)
- Say hello to the koi fish in Lake Bill, which is named for company founder Bill Gates (behind Building 4)
- Explore the serene, stunning Red West Wetlands walking trails (north campus)
- Kick a ball around the Microsoft Soccer Field (behind The Commons)
- Stop and play on the Bocce ball courts, cricket pitch, softball field, beach volleyball, or one of several basketball courts
- Peruse the commemorative plates in the courtyard behind Building 16
- Climb to the upper reaches of the Microsoft Treehouses and Crow's Nest (behind Building 32)

Bring Your Passion Here

Home to the world's smartest and most innovative technology leaders, Redmond offers a diverse and eclectic collection of event venues to enhance your next group gathering. With a unique array of indoor and outdoor spaces, meetings are more fun in Redmond.
